As a behavioral science, Psychology employs the scientific method to greatly enhance the problem-solving abilities of people. Further, since Psychology involves the study of behavior, it enables people to understand themselves better and to understand others.

> Flexible Education

The Department of Psychology provides a major field of study leading to a bachelor of science degree. Just as in the minor field of study, some students majoring in Psychology do not intend to become professional psychologists. These students may use Psychology to enter professional schools such as medicine, dentistry, law, or theology. Others use Psychology as a liberal education and enter business and industry or use this knowledge and these skills to become effective parents or citizens in the communities in which they live. Finally, of course, students choose to major in Psychology because they want to go on to graduate school and make psychology their professional career.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

>DEGREE OPTIONS

Psychology

As a field, psychology attempts to develop technologies that will help understand the dynamics of human behavior to help promote human welfare. As such, the undergraduate program at East Central University prepares its students through classwork, student professional organizations such as Psi Chi, field trips, assisting the faculty in professional endeavors such as research and application, and close relationships with the faculty to help understand and get to know, on a broad basis, the field of psychology. This training prepares the student to work entry-level positions in the following areas:

- Mental health clinics
- Counseling centers
- Hospitals
- Corrections
- And many more!

Behavioral Health Concentration

This option is designed to offer an educational experience for those interested in working in a behavioral health-related field. As a discipline, it attempts to provide the initial educational background for students who are seeking to be employed in the area of mental health upon the completion of their bachelor's degree. As such, this option of the undergraduate program at ECU prepares its students through classwork, student professional organizations such as Psi Chi, and the specific educational experiences necessary to work in the field upon graduation. This training prepares the student to work as a social or human service assistant, behavioral health technician, or prepares them for entry into a behavioral health-oriented graduate program.

Psi Chi International Honors Society in Psychology

Psi Chi is an academic and service organization designed to allow students the opportunity to learn more about their chosen profession and allow them to help their university and community.

To prepare students for tomorrow's world through a dynamic & diverse learning experience.

This publication, printed by Choctaw Print Services is issued by East Central University as authorized by the Regional University System of Oklahoma (RUSO) board. 16,000 copies have been prepared and distributed at a cost of $2,653.
