The Master of Science in Accounting is designed to prepare students to move into leadership positions in manufacturing companies, governmental units, not-for-profit entities, public accounting firms, and other professional or service organizations. The unique combination of human skills, knowledge and technology embedded in the curriculum will prepare graduates for these opportunities. Specifically, students should exit the program knowing how to:

- anticipate and meet the changing needs of their customers
- utilize and leverage technology in ways that add value to these customers
- interpret and provide a broader context to financial and non-financial information
- link data, knowledge and insight together to provide quality advice for strategic decision-making
- give and exchange information within a meaningful context and with the appropriate delivery and interpersonal skills.

The program curriculum has been specifically designed to provide an educational experience which will prepare students to successfully complete all portions of the Certified Public Accountant (CPA) exam, while earning an advanced degree.

A Wonderful Experience

The Stonecipher School of Business provided me with an exceptional educational experience. I was taught by professors that had actual experience working in the profession and were able to provide me real-world perspectives beyond the textbook. I was not only prepared to begin a career in accounting but for the rigor and difficulty in passing the CPA exam. I greatly appreciated the personal role faculty took in exposing me to different career opportunities and preparation for the CPA exam. I highly recommend the Stonecipher School of Business and the Department of Accounting to anyone considering a career in accounting.
