ACADEMIC/COMMUNITY SERVICE

Instructor, Startalk Russian Camp, East Central University Summer 2012 & 2013 & 2015. Taught two sections of Russian poetry to a camp of 20 students from around the country. The class was designed as a survey of Russian poetry from its origins in the Enlightenment through the major social/literary movements such as Romanticism, Revolution, the Great War, and the Thaw. Poems were read in Russian (with the assistance of native speakers) as well as discussed in translation.

Faculty Member & Judge, Scissortail Creative Writing Festival Committee, Spring 2007 -Present: I personally oversee and judge the poetry entries for the Darryl Fisher High School Creative Writing Contest, which generates over 600 entries from regional high schools. The winners are recognized at a special session of the festival, where I present their certificates and checks before a large audience. I also help moderate individual sessions of the festival.

Resident Scholar, Tulsa Library's Novel Talk Series: Books for Smart Readers, Spring 2012-Present. I am a recurring speaker at this award-winning lecture/discussion series, which offers free discussions of classic and popular literary works at Tulsa's Central Library and Hardesty Library. The talks feature a panel of three speakers, typically a librarian, an outside scholar, and a writer whose works represent the chosen genre (science fiction, Gothic, romance, etc.). To date I have given 40 minute lecture/discussions on Dracula, Jane Austen's novels, and classic science fiction.

Resident Scholar, Oklahoma Arts and Humanities Council's Let's Talk About it, Oklahoma 2007-Present. I travel to regional libraries and lead discussions on books chosen by the Oklahoma Arts and Humanities Council for community discussion. Invited talks have included:

- Pollan's In Defense of Food, November 2012, McAlester, OK
- Cather's The Professor's House, October 2010, Tishimingo, OK
- Stoker's Dracula & King's Salem's Lot, October 2009, Tishimingo, OK
- Fowles' The French Lieutenant's Woman, October 2008, Tishimingo, OK
- Cross's Death in a Tenured Position, October 2007, Antlers, OK

Instructor, ECU Upward Bound. East Central University, Fall 2008-2013: I taught area high school students once monthly throughout the semester and in an intensive 6-week program in the summer. The Upward Bound program is geared to get students from smaller, rural schools acclimated to the college environment and support them in making the leap to college (since most would be first-generation students). Many students have subsequently enrolled in ECU and/or taken classes with me.

Organizer & Judge, Oklahoma Arts and Humanities Poetry Out Loud Regional Contest: Spring 2008-2012: I organized the regional leg of the Oklahoma Art and Humanities Council's Poetry Out Loud Contest. Four candidates from regional schools meet at ECU to recite poetry which is judged by English department faculty members. The winner advances to the statewide competition. Have also judged the local competition at Ada High School, to determine the regional qualifier.

Faculty Member, English & Languages Scheduling Committee, Spring 2008-Present: I plan and draw up the Fall and Spring schedules for the English and Languages faculty, which consists of 14 full-time professors and 4 part-time instructors.

Faculty Co-Sponsor, Sigma Tau Delta Honor Society, East Central University, 2006-Present: I am co-Sponsor for the ECU branch of Sigma Tau Delta (national English honors society), responsible for recruiting and inducting new members, hosting meetings, and relaying information to students from the national headquarters.

Writer, ECU Self-Study Assessment 2010, Core Component 1E "Organizational Integrity," Spring-Fall 2010 I worked with faculty members to gather research and write a rough draft and final copy of Component 1E of the university's self-study for accreditation purposes.

Instructor, Oklahoma Literary Arts Festival, Spring 2007-2012: I offered small workshops for area high school students as part of ECU's Oklahoma Literary Arts Festival. Previous workshops have included "Satire and Society," "Crime Scene Closure," "Literature Rules Vs. Literature Sucks" with Dr. Steve Benton, and most recently, "Thinking Inside the Box: Comics and the Classroom."

Member, Honors Thesis Committee

- For Charlynn Estes, Fall 2014
- For Claire Marquardt, Fall 2013
- For Lindsey Duggan, Fall 2012
- For Ray Lackey, Spring 2011

Faculty Member, Teaching Excellence Committee, Fall 2009-Fall 2010: I worked with the committee to review teaching portfolios and award several Teaching Excellence Awards to deserving professors.

Faculty Member, Spanish Job Search Committee: Spring 2008: I worked with senior faculty to screen applicants, conduct phone interviews, and host candidates on campus.

Faculty Member, English Chair Job Search Committee, East Central University, Spring 2007: I worked with senior faculty to screen applicants, conduct phone interviews, and host candidates on campus.

Organizer, ECU Graduate School Colloquium, East Central University, Fall 2006, 2008: I organized a colloquium for junior and senior humanities majors on the realities of graduate school. Discussed taking the GRE, application letters, assistantships, courses, conferences, and other student concerns.

Member of Graduate Symposium Committee, Miami University, 2004: I assisted in organizing Miami University's Second Annual Graduate Symposium; duties ranged from planning, advertising, assisting first time presenters, and introducing panels and speakers.

Graduate Representative, Postcolonial Job Search Committee, Miami University, 2003: I assisted senior faculty in reading and ranking application letters, dossiers, and writing samples. Also hosted candidates at informal breakfasts for graduate students.

Ohio Writing Project Portfolio Committee, Miami University, 2003: I worked with a group of graduate students and high school teachers to evaluate portfolios for incoming first-year students.

Undergraduate Portfolio Committee, University of Tulsa, 2000-2002: I evaluated mid-term and final writing portfolios for the students' ability to meet the demands of college level writing.
