The Department of Professional Programs in Human Services offers educational programs that share the common goal of preparing students to work with people in a variety of human services agencies and organizations. The human services field is one of the most rapidly expanding career fields in America today. The Department of Professional Programs in Human Services focuses on those careers which require professional preparation and training for service to individuals, families, groups, and the community. Degree programs include Counseling, Criminal Justice, and Social Work. In addition to a general career field, the Counseling student may select a concentration in rehabilitation, aging services, or services to the deaf.

> Criminal Justice Program

The primary objective of the Criminal Justice degree is to prepare students for professional jobs in the criminal justice system. The curriculum provides a core program of basic courses applicable to all criminal justice fields and specialized courses intended to prepare the student for the professional demands in law enforcement. Students gain practical experience through completion of an internship or, for those seeking CLEET certification, the Collegiate Officer Program (COP).

$how Me the Money!

Criminal Justice Program

The Criminal Justice program prepares students for professional employment in the criminal justice system. The curriculum provides core of basic courses applicable to all criminal justice fields and specialized courses intended to prepare students for employment in law enforcement, courts, corrections and juvenile justice.

Collegiate Officer Program

The Collegiate Officer Program prepares students for employment in a number of entry-level law enforcement agencies including federal, state and municipal policing. Law enforcement majors receive both theoretical and practical work in preparation for positions in the largest segment of the American criminal justice system. The purpose of the Collegiate Officer Program is to provide the law enforcement major with an opportunity to complete State of Oklahoma peace officer certification through a Council of Law Enforcement Education and Training (CLEET) approved curriculum in conjunction with completion of bachelor degree requirements.

Inside-Out Prison Exchange Program

Inside-Out brings college students—particularly those pursuing careers in criminal justice and related fields—together with incarcerated men and women to study as peers in seminars behind the prison walls at Lexington Assessment and Reception Center. The program provides a life-altering experience that allows undergraduate students to contextualize and rethink what they have learned in the classroom, gaining insights that will help them to better pursue the work of creating a more effective, humane and restorative criminal justice system.
